EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING THROUGH CONSULTATION

The Department of B. Voc. Sports Nutrition and Physiotherapy emphasizes experiential learning through consultation, allowing students to 'earn while they learn'. Supervised by experienced teachers, students administer treatments, gaining practical skills and confidence. They also offer fitness training, promoting holistic wellbeing in the community. A unique remuneration system ensures student satisfaction and motivation. Recently, a medical camp provided consultations, generating income, with a portion distributed among participating students. This approach not only enhances academic experience but also recognizes students' valuable contributions to community health.
